

Dining Cars and Depots: Train Food in America

Food served to railroad passengers, including that sold at the stations, along the way, on board, and at special events connected with railroad history. Included is the story of the Harvey Houses and their Victorian fast food. 21 authentic and commemorative recipes; 104 research notes; 11,735 words. This and other books by Patricia B. Mitchell were first written for museums and their patrons, and are now available as Kindle editions. Each of her books summarizes a food history topic, using quotations and anecdotes from early sources to both entertain and inform. She carefully lists her references to make it easy for others to launch their own research. Since the 1980s Patricia Mitchell's work is a proven staple of American museum culture. Her readers love to share her ever-present sense of discovery. Her sales are approaching a million copies, and she is widely known by her web identity FoodHistory.com.
